WHEN YOU SHOP IN A BIG CITY

You know your Fifth Avenue perhaps. Or all your life you've been familiar with the shopping sections of Boston-you are certain just which side street to turn into for the specialty store you have in mind. But these days, you'll find yourself at home wherever you shop. You'll not be at a loss to get exactly what you want in St. Louis or Seattle or Syracuse.

When you buy advertised products, you can buy just as wisely and do just as well-wherever you goas you would if you went into the store on Main Street at home, where your mother and your grandmother have traded for years. For you can trust advertised products and the stores that sell them, exactly as you would believe merchants who have been your lifelong friends in the same small town.

Read the advertisements in this paperespecially if you are a stranger in town. They will guide and befriend your buying McCulloch's

"Electricity!---Keystone of the Industrial Arch"

Says Professor Irving Fisher Professor of Economics, Yale University

> "The United States laborer gets more real wages than the English laborer because he has from two to five times as much horse power to help him produce. Professor Moore, of Columbia University, has shown by mathematical statistics that wages go up or down as productivity goes up or down."

MERICA'S industrial supremacy is the envy of the world.

A continuous flow of ample power, supplied by the country's electric power companies, has helped to make this supremacy possible.

America's industrial leadership rests on a policy of mass production. Through electrically driven machinery, American wage earners are enabled to turn out in a day more than any other workmen in the world. Thus American industry has been able to pay the American worker higher wages. Higher wages, in turn, have meant a higher public purchasing power and wider markets for American goods.

Through the foresight and initiative of the directing personnel of the electric power companies, American industry is supplied with four horse power for every worker, as compared with one horse power or less available to workers of other coun-

In the furtherance of practical human benefits, affecting the lives of everybody, electricity is the most vitally useful service of all social agencies.

This service has been developed through the American principle of individual initiative. To the degree that this principle is preserved and perpetuated will America's wellbeing be assured.
